A curious mode of trying the title to land is practiced in Hindostan. Two holes are dug in the disputed spot, in each of which the plaintiff's and defendant's lawyer put one of their legs, and remain there until one of them is tired, in which case his client is defeated. In this country it is the client, and not the lawyer, who puts

DR. BEARD is of opinion that the intellect reaches its maximum development at the age of forty, after which it begins to decay. He not only thinks that men lose intellectual power after this age, but that they become worse, often much worse, as they become older; that they lose their moral enthusiasm, or moral courage, or capacity of resisting temptation and enduring disappointment, and frequently sink into senile debauchees,

THE author of a recent book about Africa tells of a forest of acacia trees he passed through. These are called by the natives "soffar," a word signifying a flute. The name is given because the acacia trees are pierced with circular holes by a small insect, and the wind, as it plays upon the openings, produces flutelike sounds. In the winter, when the trees are stripped et their leaves, and boughs white as chalk stretch out like ghosts, the wind, sighing through the insect-made flutes, fills the whole air with soft, melancholy tunes.

A Sacramento gentleman lately saw a little boy leaning against a post in the eastern portion of the city, puffing energetically at a full-grown eigar, and suc-ceeding in drawing from it quite a volume of smoke. He felt such evident interest in the job he had undertaken, that the citizen concluded to interview him, and, accordingly, drawing a cigar from his pocket. went up and asked for a light. The boy acceded to the request with an assumption of manly courtesy which he probably had studied carefully, and seemed to feel gratified at attracting attention. Then ensued the following conversation: "Well, young man, where do you buy your cigars?" "I buy 'em down town; pay ten cents apiece for em." "Do you buy many at a time?" " No, not many; I buy one at a time most oftenest," "Does your father know you smoke?" "Oh, yes." "How old are you?" "Six years." "And how long since you learned to smoke?" "About five years, I guess,"

An English scientist claims to have discovered one of the causes of typhoid fever. A family in his neighborhood was attacked with a severe type of the fever. On a careful search of the premises a spout in the family pump was found to be covered with a sort of gelatinous matter. Submitting this to microscopic investigation it was those in the pump spout. In the vicinity of this outlet the fever had also prevailed. Having cases of the fever in his own family he followed up his inquiry by a chemical analysis of the water drank by the family,

Liver and Blood Diseases.

BY R. V. PIERCE, M. D. A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from organs-the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in perform ing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure, but become variously diseased.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood, which passes to it from the heart and it fails to perform its office health fully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning which are duliness, headache, incapacity t memory, dizzy, sleepy, or nervous feelings. produces discolored brown spots, nimples blotches, and other eruptions, sores, humor from the worst scrofula to the con mon pimple, blotch or eruption.
